"Hayseed in His Hair."

We can all remember how along about September the papers used to tell of a census or the fair. And those fellows from the city, used to get daylight with. On the fellow with the duster, what had hayseed in his hair.

They had fun in Legislatures. With the man who raised potatoes. If by any hook or crook or chance elected and sent there. And those reportorial frikickers. Used to comment on the whiflers. And the carry sack of Blison, who had hayseed in his hair.

Yes, by gosh, he rid his pass out. And he used to blow the gas out. And he used to drink hard, older when he went out on a tear. And he used to squeeze the dollar. Till the buzzard used to better. The man out no ridiculous what had hayseed in his hair.

But, by gum, if you've been reading. You'll observe a strange proceeding. 'Tis the fellow with the duster that is slowly getting there. And it won't be too surprising. If by slowly organizing. Old parties may wake up and find the hayseed in their hair.

When the fashions change, you fellows. All will carry green umbrellas. And trousers wide across the seat, that make the dusters stare. And in the days, if you pass muster. You must wear a linen duster. And if you want to throw on style put hayseed in your hair.

An Important Matter.

Druggists everywhere report that the sales of the Restorative Nervine—a nerve food and medicine—are astonishing; exceeding anything they ever had, while it gives universal satisfaction in headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, sexual debility, backache, poor memory, fits, dizziness, etc. L. Burton & Co., Troy, N. Y.; Ambury & Morgan, Battle Creek, Mich.; C. B. Woodworth & Co., of Fort Wayne, Ind., and hundreds of others state that they never handled any medicine which sold so rapidly or gave such satisfaction. Trial bottles of this great medicine and book on Nervous Diseases, free at J. W. Gayle's, who guarantees and recommends it.

Quality Corner.

News very scarce. The weather is too bad to ride and our people too lazy to walk, consequently there is no visiting going on in the neighborhood.

We have heard many remarkable stories, but Mr. Pulliam tells a rat which tops them all. He says the rats ate up his horse collars, bridles and saddles and then finished off on the trunk chains. They then had a fight in which a countless number were killed, and he was compelled to buy a wagon and hire Harrison Semones to haul off the bodies of the slain.

We would advise our friend Nelly Grey to keep on the look out, as our bachelor friend is nearing the matrimonial brink.

Mr. Obannon Sudduth is toiling day and night in his sugar camp. Of course all children are naturally fond of molasses.

Perhaps some of your many readers would like to know where Quality Corner is. I will tell in my next, if I don't forget.

LITTLE SUE.

Failures in Life.

People fail in many ways. In business, in morality, in religion, in happiness, and in health. A weak heart is often an unsuspected cause in failure in life. If the blood does not circulate properly in the lungs, there is shortness of breath, asthma, etc.; in the brain, dizziness, headache, etc.; in the stomach, wind, pain, indigestion, faint spells, etc.; in the liver, torpidity, congestion, etc. Pain in the left side, shoulder and stomach is caused by heart strain. For all these maladies Dr. Miel's New Cure for the heart and lungs is the best remedy. Sold, guaranteed and recommended by J. W. Gayle, Frankfort, Ky. Treatise free.

Zilpah.

The grippie is all the go—almost epidemic.

The grippie got hold of our scribe and almost gripped him out.

Scobee's saw-mill is cutting lumber at Scrabble. Any one wanting lumber will do well to go there.

Rev. J. A. Head, of Monterey, visited W. B. Moore and family Saturday last.

John Perkins and wife, of Benson, visited Charles Perkins and family, in this community, Saturday and Sunday last.

Thomas Watkins, who purchased the Dowden estate some time ago, has sold the same to Frank Sheridan, near Lebanon Church, for $1,000.

John Moore, from near Croppers, moved to Tom Duncan's farm on Backbone creek, near this place, this week.

We wonder what has become of the Six Mile Gal; guess the grippie got her and the owl both.

How about Tioga, Savant. Guess the grippie has got him also. Surely he has not gone berrying this early in the season.

Our town is certainly on a boom. We are to have an Alliance store in operation in the near future.

Galen Jones and family will return to Cincinnati this week, where he will resume his trade.

Israel Sharp has returned from an extended trip to Indiana. Guess the owl conveyed the news to him that his girl was lonesome.

Quite a number of weddings have been consummated lately. Johnnie Stivers was wedded to Miss Frain last week.

Owen Moore will occupy the Bradley house in this town.

J. R. Harrod will occupy the house J. F. Adams sold in this place.

We learn a serious difficulty took place between young Downey and Ezra Rodgers last week, near Bailey's mill, resulting in Rodgers getting badly out with a knife.

Mrs. Wilson Moore has been very ill, but is better at this writing.

W. B. Moore visited Louisville this week.

In fact, it cured me of a cough that had baffled several other cough medicines.—N. R. BURNETT, Atalissa, Iowa. 26-1m.

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

FURNISHED BY GLOVER & DURRETT, LOUISVILLE TOBACCO WAREHOUSE.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amounted to 4,899 hhd., with receipts of 2,674 for the same period. Sales on our market since January 1st amount to 29,883 hhd. Sales of the crop of 1890 on our market to date 18,243 hhd.

The market this week has shown rather more activity than it did at the close of last week. The condition of the market may be described briefly as fluctuatingly high for the good and fine grades, with some irregularity in the good grades and a steadily low market for common grades. The sales continue immense and no doubt that the apparent willingness on the part of the growers to accept rapidly the present market conditions will guarantee the pitching of a large crop, under favorable weather conditions. The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco:

Trash (dark) or damaged tobacco.....	$2 00c	$3 00
Colony trash.....	3 00c	7 00

The Fancy Dress Hop.

The fancy dress hop to be given at the Capital Hotel on Wednesday evening, April 1st, will be under the management of the Assembly Ball Club, but is gotten up for the purpose of raising funds to assist in the erection of a monument to the memory of the Confederate soldiers buried in the Cemetery here. The mere announcement of the object is enough to enlist the interest of our citizens, and it is hoped everyone will aid the movement to the utmost of their ability, and render the hop a success. The monument, when erected, will help to adorn and beautify our Cemetery, as we understand the committee having the matter in charge contemplate putting up a very handsome one, and to aid them in their undertaking all the pleasure-loving young people of the city should attend the hop and induce their friends to do so, and thus contribute to a worthy cause.

A Narrow Escape.

We learn from the Nicholasville Democrat that a fire broke out in the Jessamine Female Institute at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, but was discovered in time to prevent any serious damage. The many friends here of Miss M. F. Hewitt, the principal, and those of our citizens having daughters and friends attending the Institute will be glad to know that no panic was created among the young ladies and the flames were extinguished with little trouble.

A Great Success.

The initial concert of the Frankfort Glee Club, given at the Chapel of the Baptist Church on Tuesday evening, was a perfect success. A large audience was in attendance, all of the young gentlemen composing the Club acquitted themselves well, and every number received generous applause. The reading of Maj. H. T. Stanton was up to his usual high standard, and the solos of Mr. K. Duke Smith, who supplied the place of Miss Jennie Morris, she being ill, were quite a treat. It is hoped that a second concert by the Club will be announced in a short time.

Spreading for Leagues Around

The marshy, overflooded lands, sunken lots and half submerged ever banks, which give them birth, the seeds of malaria impregnate the air, and are inhaled at every breath by thousands unprovided with any adequate safeguard against the baneful influence. Yet such exist—potent alike to remedy or to prevent, pure in its constituents, and the professionally recognized substitute for the late-forgotten quinine. Its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a family specific and safeguard, foremost and only as a remedy for malaria, but also as a means of permanently removing dyspepsia, and relieving constipation, liver complaints, rheumatism, kidney and bladder ailments, and nervousness. Among toxicants it takes the first place, and is also a superb appetizer. Use it systematically.

FOR DYSPEPSIA and Liver Complaint you have a printed guarantee on every bottle of Shiloh's Vivifier. It never fails to cure. For sale by J. W. Gayle.

Two trusty convicts employed upon a farm in this county, slipped off and came to town Thursday night for a lark. In the descent he fell and hurt his hand and narrowly escaped stopping a pistol ball sent after him by one of the officers. Both were captured at the farm-house where they were employed and returned to the Penitentiary.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

FRANKFORT, MARCH 7, 1891.

New P. M. at Benson.

Mr. W. D. McChesney was appointed Postmaster at Benson Station, this county, on Friday last, to succeed Rev. L. P. Hulet, resigned.

Located.

Mr. Jack Bradley, formerly a gauger in the revenue service, has located at his old home in Georgetown and resumed the practice of law.

Taken to Hatton.

The remains of a young man by the name of Samuel Tinnell, who died in this city on Monday, with consumption, were taken to his old home near Hatton Tuesday afternoon for interment.

A Louisville Delegation.

Sheriff Bell and Deputy Jailer Kelley, of Jefferson county, brought up twenty-one prisoners to the Penitentiary on Tuesday—eighteen negroes and three white. Three sentences aggregate ninety-four and a half years.

Running the Line.

A corps of engineers are engaged in running the preliminary line for a new railroad from Georgetown to Cynthiana. Mr. Harry I. Todd, jr., of this city, left Tuesday to join the party.

New County Physician.

Dr. George W. Chinn having resigned the position of County Physician, Dr. G. F. Thompson has been appointed to fill the vacancy by the County Court, and has entered upon the discharge of his duties.

Sold His Filly.

Mr. Dave Moore, of Benson, has sold his fine Hunker filly to Mr. Jos Stoddard Moore for a fancy price. She will be put in training in a short time and it is expected that she will enter the 2:30 list before the season is over.

A Good One.

Mr. W. L. Collins, of this county, purchased a few days ago, from Mr. Thomas Thompson, of Woodford county, a three-year-old steer, weighing 2,600 pounds, for 5 cents a pound. It is not often that a steer of that age will attain such a heavy weight.

Here it is and it fills the bill much better than anything we could say: "It gives me the greatest pleasure to write you in regard to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. During the past winter I have sold more of it than any other kind, and I have yet to find any one but what was benefited by taking it. I have never had any medicine in my store that gave such universal satisfaction." J. M. Roney, Druggist, Genda Springs, Kansas, 50 cent bottles for sale by J. W. Gayle. 26-1m.

Defoe.

Weather quite disagreeable at this writing.

Mr. Johnny Stivers, of this place, and Miss Christie Frain, of Shelby county, were united in marriage at J. C. Denkin's, near Shelbyville, on the 24 inst. Those now expected are the ones who get off first.

It seems that the ball has gone to rolling again, and when one gives it a kick some one else has to try it. It seems that Mr. J. F. Claxon is going to give the ball a turn at least suspicion runs that way. He has rented a house in this town, has it well furnished, and says he is going to make but one more trip to Monterey.

Miss Fannie Rucker is visiting Mrs. Mamie Moore at this place.

Geo. Baugh and Herbert Black visited Louisville last week.

Rev. W. W. Spates preached a very interesting discourse here last Sunday evening.

Died On the 1st inst., Mrs. Nancy Bohannon, at the age of 90 years and 9 months. She was a bright and intelligent old lady until a few years back, when she lost her mind. She was living at the time of her death at her son's, Joshua Bohannon's, near this place.

Mr. Robert Rucker started on last Friday for Missouri, but after as far as Louisville changed his mind and came back. Now at home, Bob, Missouri is no place to make a fortune.

Miss Pinkie Jesse, of this place, is visiting friends at Cropper's Station. Mr. R. J. Shannon, of Flag Fork, was in this town on the 2d. Give us another call Mr. Shannon, I think that you have softened some of the hard-shell farmers.

The Hon. J. O. Demaree, the great Democratic orator of Defoe, delivered a speech here last Friday night, which was attended by only a few and applauded only by the Rev. J. M.

Dr. J. F. Jesse made a speech on the Leland Stanford Land Loan Bill, during which he was cheered and applauded by all. The Doctor is a good speaker and liked by all. JUMBO.

Mr. James Lambert, of New Brunswick, Illinois, says: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right today and would insist on every one, who is afflicted with that terrible disease, to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." For sale by J. W. Gayle. 26-1m Uncle Hiram.

The performance of "Uncle Hiram" last evening was all that was promised. The piece is a good, clean, healthy production, vastly superior in tone and sentiment to many of the dramas of the present day. The character of Uncle Hiram is by no means overdrawn or distorted. He is the plain and cunning Yankee farmer, the like of which can be found in every school district "down East." Mr. Woodhull certainly has studied the Yankee character, so well does he portray it. The members of the company took their parts well, especially Mr. Davenport Bebus as Robert Callinton, Mr. W. C. Talbot as Arthur Murdoch, and Mr. J. J. Sheridan as Senator Kind. Easton (Pa.) Sunday Call.

At the Opera House Tuesday evening.

"We have met the enemy and they are ours," said Commodore Perry, thus telling the story of the battle of Lake Erie. And it is also a fact that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is no sooner used, than the cold is conquered and the cough disappears.

There is a madness in neuralgic pains which none but sufferers know. Pity the universal world don't know that this madness is cured by Salvation Oil, the famous lotion for man and beast.

Lives of great men all remind us that if we cannot do more, we can tell our neighbors how Gante's magic chicken cholera cure restored our chickens that were sick enough to die, to perfect health, and that if it fails, your money will be refunded by Phil. Carpenter.

Save Money and Suffering.

One feature of the thousands of testimonials that have been given in behalf of S. S. S. is remarkable. In numbers of instances it is related that a great deal of time and money have been spent in a vain effort to secure relief from disease in the usual way. A knowledge of the virtues of Swift's Specific would have saved the time and money, to say nothing of the prevention of the suffering. There need be no such mistakes made now. The great blood purifier is for sale by druggists everywhere, and the S. S. S. company in Atlanta will send to you, on address their Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases free, and a pamphlet containing a few of the thousands of testimonials they have received from those who have experienced the benefits of this wonderful medicine.

Dr. R. Goldstein.

The well known optician, has his office at the Hotel Kenyon, and will remain in our city several days longer. Parties suffering from neuralgia, or weak and debilitated eyes, should consult the Dr. and be relieved of this trouble. All errors of accommodation and refraction corrected. Nothing but the finest eye-glasses and spectacles furnished. Eyes examined free. 26-2t.

WE CAN AND DO

Guarantee Dr. Acker's Blood Elixir, for it has been fully demonstrated to the people of this country that it is superior to all other preparations for blood diseases. It is a positive cure for syphilitic poisoning, Ulcers, Eruptions and Pimples. It purifies the whole system and thoroughly builds up the constitution.

AN OLD SOLDIER'S OPINION.
What Gen. Speed S. Fry
Thinks of Capital
Removal.

Judge W. H. Sneed received the following letter from Gen. Speed S. Fry, of Danville, in which he gives some very strong reasons why the Capital should remain in this city:

DANVILLE, KY.

FRIEND SNEED: I see that a very strong and persistent effort is being made by the citizens of Louisville and Lexington to induce the Constitutional Convention, in session, to have the Capital removed from Frankfort and established at one or the other of those two cities. The people of Louisville present a very, to them, formidable array of reasons why their city should be the recipient of this boon and are playing them with all the force they can bring to bear to accomplish their purpose. They speak of the most glowing terms of the wealth concentrated there, of the size of their city in the way of population, of their many industries, of their trade and commerce, of their central locality on account of their many avenues of communication with all parts of the State, thus rendering it so easy of access to all the members of future Legislatures and to the people. And in addition to these attractions they propose to donate the sum of $500,000 to aid in the removal of the State archives and the erection of the new building for the Capitol.

I remember well when this question was broached during the term I served in the Legislature, these people publicly announced that they would not contribute a farthing to such a purpose; that they really did not care to have the Capital in their city; that it would add nothing to their growth and prosperity and could, in no sense, be regarded as a decided advantage.

Now I would like to know what great events have transpired since that time that should have wrought such a change in the spirit of their dreams; what has come to pass that has so suddenly awakened in their hearts such an immense desire to have this boon conferred upon them? Do they now see advantages accruing to them that were not visible then?

Have they discovered new avenues for the influx of wealth that had not then been developed, and all to result from having their city dubbed the Capital of the great State of Kentucky?

If I am any sort of a judge of the motives which prompt men in matters like this, I think that pride and selfishness be at the bottom of the whole movement, both upon the part of Louisville and Lexington. The one thinks that because she is populous and rich, pays a large portion of the State revenue, combined with all the other glittering and fanciful attractions, that all other places in the State ought at once yield the palm to her superior claims.

Lexington, though not having in so large a degree the same advantages, she comes to the front with a $500,000 subscription, boasts of her beautiful surroundings, her central position geographically, and I might add, her vast estates of blooded horses and the delicious aroma of her good Bourbon whiskey.

Now if Louisville or Lexington can bring to bear a sufficient amount of influence to induce the Convention to place in the new Constitution the provision authorizing the removal of the Capital to one or the other cities, does it not follow as a most natural consequence that which ever succeeds can, in all time to come, exercise a controlling influence in shaping the general legislation of the State? And more especially would this be the result were Louisville to be the place chosen, and more than all that, she could always succeed in procuring such measures, whether right or wrong, just or unjust, for her own benefit, that the new Constitution might authorize the Legislature to act upon. These are some of the dangers to be apprehended upon the removal of the Capital to either of those places. But alone and beyond all these things, there is involved in this movement a question of much more serious moment, and one which should be most seriously considered before the removal question is sprung before the Convention. It embraces in its wide scope not only a high principle of morals, but a most important principle of law, the violation of which, in my humble judgment, bring a disgrace upon the State and a stigma upon the members of the Convention who sanctioned such a violation that would cling to their names and memories for almost a century of years.

If I comprehended the papers shown by you, when in Frankfort in 1887 and 1888 as a member of the Legislature, giving the terms upon which the Capital was established, I regard them as containing nothing more nor less than a contract between the State and the parties granting the grounds upon which the Capital and other buildings were erected, as binding as it was possible for a contract to be made.

Now how any lawyer at all familiar with the law on contracts, with all the papers and facts before him touching the location of the Capital, could reconcile it with his conscience to seek for its removal, I can not well see.

The Capital has now remained at Frankfort for nearly one hundred years, and after effort, speech and action, after appeal after appeal through the columns of many of the leading papers in the State have been made by the most ardent and plausible arguments, not only the property but almost the absolute necessity of removing the Capital from Frankfort.

Would it facilitate legislation, would it be more productive of good, sound, wholesome measures for the government of the people? Would it secure better and more constant attention to business upon the part of Representatives? Would it prevent members who are so disposed from visiting haunts of vice and becoming the votaries of saloons and drinking shops?

Observation has taught me that cities where such places abound in such profusion and are arranged in such a large attractive trap, and where lawless men march in platoons upon the streets, displaying this rustling silk and gorgeous attire, are the places where men are most liable to fall victims to habits of vice and dissipation. Men who are intrusted with the responsibility of legislating for 2,000,000 people should be kept as far from such places as possible; and my idea is that it should be enforced upon them by a strict law that there should give strict and constant attention to the business intrusted to their hands by the people.

Never did I feel like being a member of the Constitutional Convention until the question of the removal of the Capital was so vigorously sprung upon the people. I don't know how the members of the Convention feel upon the subject, or what action they may take, but the matter be brought before them.

When I see, not only the leading papers in the State agitating the question of removing the Capital, but the little sheets almost everywhere assuming the role of advertiser in the matter, and all striving to impress it upon the minds of the members of the Convention that justice to the people and justice to themselves demand that they should hesitate in winking up their work to provide for tearing up the old Capitol, root and branch, and planting it in what they please for terms and more congenial soil.

Should the people of Frankfort find that even the slightest probability existed of the removal of the Capital, they should at once demand that the Penitentiary should accompany it. Should Louisville and Lexington be confronted with such a proposition it might, perhaps, throw somewhat of a damper upon their ardor. They would scorn the idea of having the crown of the beautiful and highly adorned suburbs shadowed by the introduction of such an institution in their midst. But I would tell them in very plain English that the "hair must go with the hound." They have been playing upon the harp of a thousand strings, pealing forth sweet and interesting music to charm the ears of the Convention, and the people of Frankfort should add another string whose discordant notes would destroy much of its sweetness and harmony. If they received the gift, they must take the bad with it—make a clean sweep.

I have no feeling of animosity toward either of the flourishing and lovely cities, they add much to the wealth and honor of the State, they are places of which all the people of the State should feel proud; but when they reach out their long arms to rake all the great institutions that lend credit and honor to the State, it seems to me it partakes somewhat of a greediness, to say the least of it, is rather unbecoming.

Again, as to the matter of the contract between the parties granting the land for the State Buildings and the Convention which located it. I have just to-day learned that the grounds for the removal project are about to, or have taken the ground that the parties to that contract were not invested with the power and authority to make it forever binding upon any succeeding Convention or upon the people. It may be possible, going upon the idea of the sovereignty of the people, that they might have the power, to set aside the contract, but I contend that the Convention, not having been empowered by the people, the question not having been submitted to the people at the time of the election of the delegates, they have no right or authority to discuss or decide the question. They were elected and delegated with no other authority than to frame a new Constitution.

The law authorizing the call of a Convention made no mention whatever of the removal of the Capital and for any set of men, without a fair and impartial expression from the people, to undertake to dictate to the Convention as to what should be done in the premises savors very strongly of arrogance and impertinence.

I am clearly of the opinion should a discussion of the question be sprung before the people and all the facts and circumstances connected with location of the Capital at Frankfort be fully and fairly laid before them, they would, by a very large majority, decide to let it remain where it is.

For this Convention to be ejected and bulldozed into assuming a position in the public mind and reputation, by the importunities of a few interested citizens, who assume the dangerous prerogative of expressing the will of the people without any direct and positive knowledge of what that will is, might arouse a spirit of indignation in the public mind and result in an overwhelming defeat of the Constitution. I also hold the opinion that the Convention has no authority whatever, by a clause in the Constitution or by resolution, to submit the question of removal to the people.

Their duties and their powers are clearly defined by the law under which they are acting and when those duties are fulfilled their powers are at an end, and they can go home, rest upon and enjoy the honors, laurels and glories they have won, in being called a political shelter for the people whose shadow all the good people of Kentucky are to repose and find protection. My prayer is, that the people of Frankfort may again come off victorious in the war of rebellion now being waged against them.

Conventions and many Legislatures have met since that contract was entered into, and its binding force and sanctity, though often called in question, have been confirmed and ratified in every solitary instance in which an effort was made to remove the Capital. If Mr. Clay, in his palmy days, could not bring to bear sufficient influence to accomplish that object, I hardly think it possible now, when the people are so fully engaged in it, it will be able to carry it out.

Well, this letter is much longer than I intended should be, but I wanted my friends in Frankfort to know that I was standing by them, with as much firmness as I did when a member of the Legislature three years ago.

Yours very truly,
SPEED S. FRY.

C. H. BOGMAN, M. D.
The Eminent Specialist, formerly resident Physician of the Philadelphia General Hospital, Physician in Chief of the Ohio Medical Institute, Cincinnati, Ohio, for twenty five years successfully devoted his time to the treatment of his specialties. He successfully treats all curable cases of Chronic and Nervous Diseases. His treatment is based on the largest experience after thorough educational preparation.

Rheumatism is essentially a disease of the nervous system, as all late investigations prove beyond a doubt. And upon this theory we have prepared a new and powerful remedy. The determination and best selection of remedies from rheumatic infusions may be procured by our treatment.

Bright Disease of the Kidney is the result of chronic uric acid accumulation, or the use of improper remedies to increase the flow of urine.

Diseases of the Digestive Organs are the most frequent cause of the most distressing dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Constipation and Chronic Diarrhea. All these are improved by our treatment. Early treatment is the only way to cure.

Young Men, who are really suffering from sexual and nervous debility, will find relief in our treatment. These are the most distressing diseases which afflict a man, and which will ruin him if not cured.

Old Age Men who observe certain indications of the failure of the system, with infirmities in the system, should avail themselves of our treatment. Such symptoms are the result of a general debility, and our treatment will restore the system to its normal condition.

Every person consulting us should bring or send four or six ounces of their urine, which we will furnish the patient.

We cure all cases which have baffled the skill of other physicians—Why? Because our extensive experience enables us to recognize the cause of the disease.

We invite all who have failed to obtain relief elsewhere to consult us. All curable cases are guaranteed.

Patients treated by mail and express. Where possible, personal consultation is preferable. List of questions sent free on application.

All cases and correspondence strictly confidential. Treatment sent C. O. D. to a part of the United States and Canada. Address with stamp for reply.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky as second-class mailable matter.

Geo. A. Lewis, Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, MARCH 7, 1891.

An Expensive Luxury.

At the meeting of the Board of School Trustees on Tuesday evening the question of continuing the night school was under discussion, and it was about determined that it should be abolished unless the school was more largely attended, as the number of pupils is so very small that it does not justify the expense. It costs from $80 to $85 per month to run the school and there is only an average attendance of eight or ten scholars, with only about twelve on the roll, so it will be seen that it is now costing the city nearly as much each the eight or ten scholars in the night school as it does to instruct one hundred in the day school. Unless more of the class of pupils for whose benefit the night school was established take advantage of it to receive an education it certainly will be discontinued. Those feeling an interest in the laboring classes, who are unable to attend school in the day time should make an effort to induce the boys who spend their idle time upon the streets to go to the night school, so that the trustees will be encouraged to keep it open. It certainly has been a great benefit to some, and the trustees will regret to discontinue it.

The Talbott Sale, March 25.

John L. Scott, executor of the late Gustavus Talbott, will sell the entire Talbott estate at the late Talbott homestead, near Black's pond, on the Stedmantown pike, at 10 o'clock, Wednesday, March 25, 1891. On account of the popularity of the Talbott farm, this sale will be likely to bring together a large number of people who know what such property is worth. The farm lies on both sides of the Kentucky Midland railroad and is capable of being sold either as one farm or as two farms. It is one of the neatest stock farms in this part of Kentucky, and its proximity to the railroad and to two turnpike roads, and being about four miles from Frankfort, will attract the attention of those who are looking out for a home at once pleasant and profitable, and the terms so liberal as to be satisfactory to the purchaser. See advertisement in another column.

County Court.

The crowd which attended County Court on Monday was much larger than usual, and prospective candidates for the Legislature were so thick that a rock thrown into any portion of the mass of human beings moving about the intersection of St. Clair and Main streets would have been very apt to strike one of them. The offering of the stock was unusually large but buyers were few. Messrs. Mason, Hoge & Gooch Co. offered thirty head of work mules at public sale, but after four of them had been sold for $60 per head the balance were withdrawn. Two of them were afterwards sold for $110 each at private sale.

The farm of the late R. K. Woodson, lying on the river two miles above this city, was sold by Master Commissioner Posey—the four hundred acres being divided into four tracts—and brought $10,895. That portion containing the family residence was bought by Mr. J. Pickett Woodson; that portion fronting the Big Eddy was purchased by Mr. Clarence Gayle, of this city; that part lying back next to the hills went to Mr. Woodford Hughes and the remaining tract to Mr. Joe B. Wasson.

D. P. Bentley, auctioneer, reports the following sales: 7 head of horses from $15 to $95; 3 mules from $25 to $50; 4 milk cows from $15 to $25.50. H. F. Showalter, auctioneer, reports the following: 4 head of mules, $60, $84, $90 and $105; 6 head of cattle $14 per head; 5 head of horses $49, $22, $65, $32 and $82; 6 head of calves, $9.40 per head; 1 cow $21; 1 mule $83; 1 horse $45.

The Mine All Right.

His honor Mayor L. Mangan, who left a week ago for Lumpkin county, Georgia, as the representative of the local stockholders in a gold mine which is being worked by a company in that county, returned Thursday morning, bringing a very favorable report of the mine, and thinks it a good investment. As Mayor Mangan had considerable experience in the mines of California back in the '50's, his opinion is worth something, and those who have funds to invest in gold mine stocks can now do so with some assurance that their money will be safe.

A Windfall.

On Thursday of last week Mrs. Anna B. Van Derveer, of this city, was granted a pension on account of the service of her late husband, Capt. John Van Derveer, of the 38th Ohio Infantry, in the late war. She has received $4,200 back pay, and will receive seventeen dollars per month during life. The many friends of Mrs. Van Derveer will be glad to learn of her good fortune. Her claim was pushed through by Congressman Morey, of Ohio, who was a comrade and warm friend of Capt. Van Derveer.

Death of Dr. Pryor.

Dr. Wm. Pryor, for many years a highly respected citizen of the Forks of Elkhorn neighborhood, this county, died at his home in Georgetown on Saturday morning, aged 69 years. Dr. Pryor was stricken with paralysis several weeks ago and never recovered from the stroke. His funeral took place Sunday and the remains were interred in the Georgetown Cemetery.

Robbed a Preacher.

During the services at the Methodist Church Sunday evening, some thief broke into the study of Rev. H. G. Henderson, the pastor, which is located in the Church building, forced the locks on the drawers of his desk and went through the same in search of valuables, but failing to find anything of more value, carried off a morocco covered note book and gutta percha match case.

SLEEP IN PEACE BY USING PRATTS KILLER FOR BED BUGS.

This preparation is superior to all others for the following reasons: It kills the bugs instantly. It effectually destroys their eggs, therefore it is only necessary to use it once or twice during the season. It possesses advantages over insect powders inasmuch as it can be used in places which they can not reach.

Its odor is agreeable, and it is warranted not to injure carpets, linen or furniture. No fatal effects can result from its use, and it is not so potent, which fact should give peace in every household.

Lena Stewart Pusey Celebrates her Birthday.

One of the most prettiest and pleasant entertainments for the little folks of this city was given Wednesday afternoon by Lena Stewart Pusey to celebrate the fourth anniversary of her birthday. The hours were from three until five, and the invitations were extended to the following children, all of whom, with but one or two exceptions were present, viz: Gladys M. Rodman, Mrie M. Trabue, Lucy Chinn, Virginia Bennett, Lucy B. Rodman, Cornelia B. Gordon, Bessie D. Martin, Virginia Greenhow, Margaret McLean, Jane Holmes, Florie Rodman, Jane Gillum, Corneille Crutcher, Mary Swigert Hendrick, Julia Murray, Aubyn Chinn, S. Bolivar Buckner, William Herndon, John Holmes, George M. Gayle, Lampton Herndon, William Townsend Newhall, Robert Crutcher, Julian Chinn, John McClelland Walcutt and Ward Burnett.

The elegance of the spacious parlors and rooms at the Feeble-minded Institute, combined with the beautiful floral decorations and dainty and becoming toilets worn by the little people, made up the chorus of a scene as enchanting to the imagination as the felicitous conjurations of a fairy tale. When away with their playing and bird-like love making, they were seated at a long table spread with all the good things that children most relish, and in the middle of the table was a large dish filled with what appeared to be a plum pudding. Out of the dish were ribbons leading to each plate, and at a given signal, after the reading of

Little Jack Horner,
Sat in the corner,
Eating a Christmas pie,
He put in his thumb,
And pulled out a plum,
And said: Oh! what a great boy am I,
The ribbons were pulled by the children, when out hopped to each plate a handsome little toy. A large birth cake, ornamented by four lighted wax candles, was also a part of the menu distributed to the guests. One of the happy features of the occasion, among the numerous congratulatory remembrances presented to the little hostess, was the presentation of an elegant pearl and turquoise ring, which the "young Governor," Bolivar Buckner, placed upon her finger with all the gallantry and ceremony of a knight of the middle ages. Little Lena, who is as beautiful as a picture, acquitted herself with great credit in the discharge of her responsible duties, and completely captivated the on-looking mothers by her pretty graces and sweet, artless efforts to make her guests feel at home and enter into the pleasures of the occasion.

Resolutions of Respect.

FRANKFORT, KY., Feb. 27th, 1891.
At a meeting of Albert G. Bacon Post, No. 33, Department of Kentucky, a committee was appointed to draft resolutions of respect to General Wm. T. Sherman.

The following was adopted:
Dear comrades: During the last few years death has invaded our ranks and borne away many of our brave companions in arms; and again has the grim messenger taken another "across on the other side."
General W. T. Sherman, the last of our great leaders, to join the silent majority, has, by loyalty and devotion to his country, done much to make it great among the nations of the earth. We have not only lost a great soldier, but a man of honor and perfect integrity in all the walks of life. His name shall be enshrined in our hearts, and his life and character be associated in thought with all that was pure and noble in man.

We do heartily thank God that his life was spared to see our country in peace and prosperity, that he had not labored in vain.

He lived man's allotted span, his was a righteous life, and the death of the righteous was his.

When the summons came he was ready to answer to his name, and ere this has heard, "well done good and faithful servant." Therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of General Sherman the nation has lost a great soldier, a pure patriot, a brave and noble man, and that we in mourning his death mingle our tears with our comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic throughout the land.

That to the Sons of Veterans we commend the character of General Sherman as an example for them to follow, and if the time shall come that our country is in peril, let them be quick to take up arms in its defense, and count it not dear to die for their country.

To the family of the deceased we tender our heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement, and pray that the God who led General Sherman in safety through the perils of war to glorious victory and peace, will guide and protect them through the journey of life.

That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, engrossed and sent to the family of the deceased.

IN MEMORIAM.

PARKINSON—At the family residence on West Grand avenue north of Governor street, at 12:30 a. m. Monday, Feb. 28, 1891, Mrs. AUGUSTA L. PARKINSON, widow of John J. Parkinson, eldest daughter and child of the late Dr. A. A. Parkinson, aged 49 years.

The funeral services will be held at the residence on West Grand avenue, near Governor street, this morning at 10 o'clock, the Rev. T. D. Logan of the First Presbyterian Church officiating. The interment will be in the Farmington cemetery, ten miles west of the city.

Mrs. Parkinson was born at Fort of Elk Horn, Franklin county, Ky., March 12, 1842, and came to this county with her parents in 1858. She was united in marriage Nov. 9, 1860, to John J. Parkinson, a noble, true-hearted man, who preceded her to the grave some years ago. Of this marriage were born seven children, of whom five survive to mourn the loss of both parents. To the many friends of her childhood days and acquaintances of more recent years, the news of Mrs. Parkinson's death will bring deep sorrow. Her life was one of gentleness and good deeds, and into her home life was brought all the blessed and beautiful influence that radiates from a refined and cultured mind and a soul filled with the power of God's grace. Her early training was such as eminently fitted her to be the guide and companion of the young, and not only as the wife and mother in her own house, but as the beloved and idolized elder daughter and sister, she occupied a place in the family that can never be filled. In her childhood she enjoyed the privilege of receiving from her grandfather, John J. Lewis, of Glasgow, a great mass of rare scholarly attainments and a teacher of high repute, a thorough scholar, and amid the blessed influences of a Christian home she developed those traits of character which adorned her womanhood with such nobility. She was called to mourn the loss, within two short weeks, of her eldest son, and the death of her husband, but in all her trials she clung closer to the arm of her Saviour and bore with meek submission the sorrows of her lot. When her final hour came she entered the dark valley of the shadow of death with peace and a prayer upon her lips, confidently committing her orphaned children to the God of the fatherless. To those who watched her bed it seemed rather a scene of triumph than of death, and turned to their tears they looked upward with her toward the haven of rest which lies "beyond the stars."

"For one my heart that erst did glow,
Most like a star, child that a star,
Who se's through tears the mummy's lean,
Would now his wearied vision o'er,
Would I could like on his love repose,
Who giveth his beloved sleep."

And friends, dear friends, when it shall be that this low breath is gone from me,
And round my bier ye come to weep,
Let one low wailing cry be all,
Say not a tear; but let it fall—
He giveth his beloved sleep."

—Springfield (Ills.) Monitor.

THE TALBOTT SALE

at 10 o'clock
Wednesday, March 25, 1891.

ONE OF THE NICEST STOCK FARMS IN CENTRAL KY. Possession to be given immediately.

As executor under the will of the late Gustavus Talbott, I will at 10 o'clock on Wednesday, March 25, 1891, on the premises where Gustavus Talbott lived and died, near Steelmantown, about four miles east of the city of Frankfort, Franklin county, Ky., sell to the highest and best bidder the entire Talbott farm and all the personal property owned by said Talbott at the time of his death. The entire property to be sold consists of the following real and personal estate:

1. The home farm, lying on the Steelmantown pike and between the pike and Main, Elk Horn, consisting of between 15 and 175 acres, in fine condition, and susceptible of laying out a half-mile scotting track, well watered, with a large barn and orchard, with a field of some twenty acres sown in alfalfa, and a small tract of about five acres, this beautiful farm into two nearly equal parts, with delightful building sites on both. This farm fronts on the turnpike road for nearly half a mile. Each part will be first offered as a separate farm, and then both will be offered together as one farm, and it will be sold whichever way it will bring the most money. The widow has accepted the provisions of the will, and the farm will be sold free from all claims for dower or homestead, and clear title given, and the purchaser can have possession at once, and raise a crop the present year. The terms of sale as to the land will be cash, and the balance of the purchase money, one, two and three years, with six per cent. interest.
2. Thirty or forty head of cattle, including a number of milk cows.
3. Eight or ten head of horses, including good brood mares and colts.
4. A large lot of stock hogs of the very best breed.
5. All the wagons, bugles, reapers, binders and farm implements of all kinds.
6. Quite a number of barrels of Mr. Talbott's corn and other vinegar, and some of his celebrated old hams.
7. All the corn and other feed not used up by the day of sale.
8. Twenty shares ($100 each) of stock in the First National Bank, with the understanding that if this is not satisfactory, the stock will be withdrawn and sold thereafter at private sale.
9. All such other articles, not specifically enumerated, as might be expected to be found on the farm of one of the neatest and best farmers in Kentucky.

All sales of personal property for less than $20 will be for cash. Sales of personal property over $20 will be on a credit of six months, the purchaser to give notes on the day of sale, payable at bank, with good personal security, with interest at 6 per cent., and the property purchased to be at the purchaser's risk as soon as the note is given. This is a rare chance to become the purchaser of one of the most desirable stock farms in central Kentucky, with much of the stock raised and handled by one of the neatest and best farmers who ever adorned the honorable art of husbandry in Kentucky.

All are invited to attend the sale of this most desirable property.
